

Co-op Work Permit Application Process

International students who are undertaking any kind of required field education (co-op, externship, practicum, clinical, etc.), regardless of length, must have a valid co-op/intern work permit. You can submit this application at the same time as your study permit application. If you did not apply for your co-op/intern work permit along with your study permit or did not receive one with your study permit, you will have to submit a separate application through IRCC while in Canada well in advance of the start date of your placement.

Important!

Immigration, Refugees and Citizenship Canada (IRCC) has updated their guidance on issuing co-op work permits to international students. Below is the most recent eligibility requirements for a co-op work permit from the IRCC website:

Some study programs include work experience as part of their curriculum. You [international students] can apply for a co-op or intern work permit if:

- you have a valid study permit
- work is required to complete your study program in Canada
- you have a letter from your school that confirms all students in your program need to complete work placements to get their degree, and
- your co-op placement or internship totals 50% or less of your study program

This means that in order for ISS to issue a status letter to support the co-op/internship work permit application, a student's program must require all students to complete work placement(s) to get their degree. Students who are admitted into a co-op stream qualify of their program qualify for a co-op work permit.
